PRACTICES LITIGATION

This Document Relates To: ALL CASES

MDL No. 2361

Master Case No. 4:12-md-02361-FJG

ORDER

The Court believes that oral argument would be helpful in resolution of the pending motions for summary judgment and motions to strike experts, including issues raised in the parties' recently-filed supplemental briefs. In particular, the Court expects the parties to focus on (1) the process used to modify ordinary orange oil into the "modified orange oil" added to defendant's products; (2) the source of the contents of the modified orange oil; (3) specifically, whether orange essence oil constitutes orange oil or orange essence under the FDA's regulations; and (4) whether distillates or fractions created from orange oil and essence can be considered orange oil and essence under the FDA's regulations.

Accordingly, oral argument on the parties' motions is set for Monday, January 4, 2016, at 9:30 a.m. at the Charles Evans Whittaker Courthouse, Courtroom 7C, 400 E. 9th Street, Kansas City, Missouri. The Court has reserved from 9:30 to noon for the parties' oral arguments.

IT IS SO ORDERED.
